

Greater scrutiny of causes of death to help protect the public

New measures to help protect the public and support bereaved families will be introduced in a revamp of how deaths are certified.