

Guidance: Healthy weight environments: using the planning system

How local authorities' public health and planning teams can promote healthy weight environments.