

Guidance: Surgical site infection surveillance service (SSISS)

This service allows hospitals to record incidents of infection after surgery, track patient results and review or change practice to avoid further infections.