

Hazards of growing high-risk crops in south-west England

Environment Agency warns poor crop-management could increase region's flooding and pollution