

Hedgerow regulations to be brought into law to protect wildlife

English hedgerows will be protected in law as the government sets out its plans for domestic hedgerow regulations, following a consultation last year.