

Help for vulnerable Brits to access banking and credit in spotlight

People with poor credit histories could receive new support to access banking, affordable credit and other financial services.