

Historic train makes final journey

The Hong Kong Railway Museum's revamp has been completed with the major conservation and relocation of its latest permanent exhibit: the century-old train coach No. 313. The enormous piece of railway history was transported to the museum by road.

News.gov.hk spoke to department representatives about the train coach's conservation and challenging relocation plan.