

Hold onto your compass: true north and magnetic north cross at Greenwich for first time in 360 years

Compasses at Greenwich will point to true north for the first time in 360 years at some point within the next two weeks.