

Homes England welcomes independent Public Bodies Review

National body has crucial role in delivering the government's housing, regeneration and levelling up priorities and provides value for money, working in partnership to drive forward national, regional and local ambitions