Housing associations continue to reinvest operating surplus into new and existing homes, RSH report shows

RSH publishes the Value for Money metrics so boards and other stakeholders can assess how each housing association is performing against its peers.