

Huge response to Recharging Rural

Rural communities are coming together to improve their quality of life but feel as though they are becoming more remote, according to research from The Prince's Countryside Fund and SRUC.