

Humans overtake nature as the biggest contributors to landscape evolution

Humans now have a greater effect on shaping the surface of the Earth than natural processes do.