

Iconic British exports expected to benefit from any trade deal with Australia

World famous British food and drink, car, rail, and fashion industries are among those that could benefit from tariff-free trade with Australia.