

Implementing a new model of disease surveillance

Following an internal consultation, Scotland's Rural College will progress with the new model of disease surveillance announced in August 2019.