

Import of poultry meat and products from Schleswig-Flensburg District in State of Schleswig-Holstein in Germany suspended

The Centre for Food Safety (CFS) of the Food and Environmental Hygiene Department announced today (July 19) that in view of a notification from the World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE) about an outbreak of highly pathogenic H5N1 avian influenza in Schleswig-Flensburg District in the State of Schleswig-Holstein in Germany, the CFS has instructed the trade to suspend the import of poultry meat and products (including poultry eggs) from the area with immediate effect to protect public health in Hong Kong.

A CFS spokesman said that according to the Census and Statistics Department, no poultry meat or poultry eggs was imported from Germany in the first three months of this year.

â€‹"The CFS has contacted the German authorities over the issue and will closely monitor information issued by the OIE and the relevant authorities on the avian influenza outbreaks. Appropriate action will be taken in response to the development of the situation," the spokesman said.
