

John Henderson appointed as Independent Member to the Committee on Standards in Public Life

New member for the independent advisory public body that advises on arrangements for upholding ethical standards of conduct across public life in England.