

Keeping traditions alive

The Government is using this year's Mid-Autumn Festival to promote the time-honoured tradition of paper crafting by inviting paper craft master Hui Ka-hung to showcase his talent through a giant dragon lantern.

News.gov.hk spoke to Mr Hui and an Intangible Cultural Heritage Office curator to find out the steps it has taken to keep this unique art form alive.

The story appears on news.gov.hk on September 8 in text and video format.
