

Keyworkers helped on to the housing ladder through flagship government scheme

A nurse and a police officer are among the first people to be helped on to the housing ladder through the government's First Homes scheme.