

Landmark report reveals harms associated with gambling estimated to cost society at least £1.27 billion a year

Public Health England (PHE) has today published the first evidence review of gambling-related harms in England.