

Landslide buries five in Guizhou

At least five people were buried in a building hit by a landslide at Sunday dawn in southwest China's Guizhou Province, local government said.

The landslide occurred at the village of Baga in Panxian County at 1:20 a.m. More than 300 police, fire fighters and medical workers have been mobilized for a rescue operation.

The cause of the landslide is being investigated.