

Learner drivers urged to be test-ready as pass rate falls

Learner drivers are being urged to check they're ready to pass their driving test, as new statistics reveal pass rates have fallen since last year.