

Letter from the Housing Minister to stakeholders: Building the homes we need

The Housing Minister Matthew Pennycook has written to stakeholders about the government's plan to build the homes the country needs.