

Letter to front line staff providing essential banking services

Letter from the Economic Secretary, John Glen, to front line staff working to provide essential banking services.