

Letter to the technology sector about taking action to fight climate change

UK Net Zero Business Champion Andrew Griffith MP has written to organisations in the technology sector about steps they can take to fight climate change.