

Letters to political party leaders and parliamentary candidates about upholding standards of conduct ahead of the forthcoming general election

The Chair has written to political party leaders and parliamentary candidates in the forthcoming general election about the importance of upholding standards of conduct during elections.