

Longstanding weaknesses across SEND system impacting on young people's transition to adulthood

A report by Ofsted and the Care Quality Commission (CQC) finds that local areas are working hard to improve support for young people with SEND, but systemic challenges are limiting their ability to prepare these young people..