

Man fined for obstructing Environment Agency officers

A North East man has been fined for obstructing Environment Agency officers during an investigation into the illegal dumping of waste.