

Marking 20 years of improving standards in security and supporting public safety

The Security Industry Authority launches a series of stories to mark 20 years since private security industry regulation was introduced.