

Mental health funding to tackle reoffending in Wales

Offenders in Wales with low-level mental health issues will be required to address them as part of a government scheme to tackle a major root cause of crime.