

Child, 11, dies after Turkish Airlines flight makes emergency landing in Budapest

BUDAPEST: An 11-year-old child died after losing consciousness on board a Turkish Airlines flight en route to New York from Istanbul, with medical services unable to resuscitate the child after the plane made an emergency landing in Budapest, news agency MTI reported.

MTI said the Airport Medical Service was scrambled to the scene after flight TK003 landed in Budapest on Sunday, but the child could not be saved despite prompt medical attention.

Two Yemeni soldiers killed in Al-Qaeda attack in Shabwa

AL-MUKALLA: Two Yemeni soldiers were killed and three others were injured on Sunday morning when Al-Qaeda militants attacked their outpost in the southern province of Shabwa, local officials and media reports said.

This was Al-Qaeda's bloodiest strike on government troops in the south in months.

Shabwa Defense Forces said that Al-Qaeda attacked a military outpost in Al-Musenah region of Shabwa with heavy machine guns and other weapons, triggering clashes that left two soldiers dead and three others wounded.

GCC ministers condemn Israeli settlements in occupied Palestinian territories

RIYADH: A meeting of foreign ministers from the Gulf Cooperation Council on Sunday condemned Israel's continued construction of settlement units in occupied Palestinian territories.

The 156th ministerial meeting was held at the headquarters of the General Secretariat of the GCC in Riyadh, the Saudi Press Agency reported.

Morocco building collapse kills five: new toll

RABAT: The partial collapse of a textile factory near Morocco's commercial capital of Casablanca has killed five people, a labor union said on Saturday in a revised toll.

Local authorities had initially reported two fatalities and five "seriously injured" in the incident early on Thursday in the town of Tit Mellil.

"The tragedy has claimed the lives of five workers," the textile and clothing branch of the Democratic Confederation of Labour said in a statement on Saturday.

'We were really hoping Sudan would have a chance to stabilize and prosper,' EU envoy for the Sahel tells Arab News

RIYADH: Although the conflict in Sudan is viewed by many in the international development sphere as a major setback, the EU's special representative for the Sahel believes donors and aid agencies must not lose hope but continue to remain engaged.

Speaking to Arab News on the sidelines of the Ministerial Meeting of the Global Coalition to Defeat ISIS in Riyadh on Thursday, Emanuela C. Del Re said there were great hopes that Sudan would stabilize and prosper following the toppling of longtime dictator Omar Al-Bashir in 2019.
