

Military 'silent hangar' to help protect against foreign GPS jamming

A new test facility, one of the largest in Europe, will help military kit to be better protected from attempts to jam GPS devices.