

Ministry of Defence analyses future global strategic trends

The seventh edition of Ministry of Defence's analysis of the long-term future global strategic context and possible futures has been published today, covering a range of global trends including defence and technological adva...