

More funding to schools, hospitals and public buildings to lower energy use and save on bills, and cut carbon emissions

Public sector organisations can now bid for a share of £230 million to help make low-carbon energy upgrades to their buildings.