

More than 150 people already in court following violent disorder

More than 150 of the people arrested in connection with this month's violent disorder have already faced their day in court.