

More than 600 organised crime groups disrupted by ADDER projects

The Home Office has revealed early successes of the project at a meeting today to underline the importance of cracking down on drug misuse.