

National Highways delivers smart motorway safety upgrade

The installation of new safety equipment on smart motorways without a permanent hard shoulder will be completed within the next five months, it was confirmed today.