

National pelvic health service to support women

Maternity and neonatal services nationwide will be required to support and inform women who experience trauma during childbirth.