

National security bolstered as Bill to protect against malicious investment granted Royal Assent

National Security and Investment Act becomes law, protecting UK national security.