

New framework announced to tackle industrial emissions across the UK

UK Government establishes a new regulatory framework to boost industrial emissions standards and reduce air pollution.