

New freedoms to support high streets and fast track delivery of schools and hospitals across England introduced today

Housing Secretary Robert Jenrick announces package of measures to revitalise England's cherished high streets and town centres.