

New government funding helps UK companies lead the way for future Moon missions

UK companies are developing new communication and navigation services needed for future missions to the Moon, thanks to funding from the UK Space Agency