

New Government tech deals boost the business of cancer detection

New UK-created therapies for cancer will be trialled in the UK – furthering the nation's life sciences industry as one of the great drivers of economic growth.