

New groundbreaking projects given green light with over £1m of government funding

The final phase of the government's £15 million Evaluation Accelerator Fund (EAF) has been announced as part of the commitment to making the UK a global leader in evidence-based policy-making.