

New investment minister to spearhead bolstered Office for Investment

A new Minister for Investment has been appointed to head up a bolstered Office for Investment, as part of a wider Whitehall 'shake up' to strengthen the government's offer and partnership with businesses and investors.