

New measures to protect children's learning from strike action

Minimum service levels to protect children and young people's education are set to be introduced in schools and colleges, the Government has announced.