

New Ofsted report finds schools need to add depth to their RE curriculum

Ofsted has today published a subject report looking at how religious education (RE) is being taught in England's schools.