

New plans to ensure the BBC's financial sustainability set out by the Culture Secretary

The Culture Secretary has provided an update on the funding of the BBC, setting out how the government will review alternate funding options to secure the broadcaster's long-term sustainability, while providing it with fundi...