

New plans to promote media freedom and protect journalists

In Journalism Matters Week, new plans are being set out to boost protections for reporters against rising threats and abuse.