

New poverty statistics developed to help government target support

New statistics to measure poverty and help target support more effectively will be developed and published by the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP).