

New procurement rules help rapid fitting of military laser to Royal Navy ships

The rollout of Laser weapons systems far quicker than expected, following defence procurement reforms, with DragonFire to be on Royal Navy warships from 2027.